'Seven Sisters' is a small tree with a slightly irregularly shaped, broadly oval crown, which becomes almost round in later life. Eventually, 'Seven Sisters' grows 4-5 m tall and the crown becomes almost as wide. It is a deciduous hybrid with healthy, dark green leaves in summer. The dark pink flowers open in April. When opening, they are broadly bowl-shaped, but soon the petals flatten out to form a more or less star-shaped flower. The petals are relatively narrow, giving the flowers an airy character. Even at a young age, 'Seven Sisters' flowers richly. Was introduced by Van den Berk Nurseries. Hardiness zone 6.
